

International Association of Public Health Logisticians

Powering the Spread of Supply Chain Knowledge to Health Professionals Around the World

Knowledge shared within the IAPHL community provides logisticians with resources to do their jobs better and improve the health of those they serve.

For more information and to become a member visit www.iaphl.org

IAPHL is implemented through funding from JSI Research & Training Institute, Inc and the United States Agency for International Development through the USAID/DELIVER PROJECT.